Fund Manager Commentary

January was a busy month, with many companies providing updates. The FTSE 100, FTSE 250 and FTSE small cap returned -2.0%, -2.3% and -0.2% respectively. The Pound rose to its highest level against the US Dollar since the Brexit referendum, although this was arguably a function of Dollar weakness. Inflation eased slightly which could delay interest rate rises from the Bank of England. Tensions within the Conservative party appear to be simmering again over Brexit policy. Applied Graphene Materials rose on the back of a confident AGM statement. Blue Prism rose on the back of strong full year results whilst CVS Group performed well on the back of a strong trading update. Falls in Dignity, Ethernity Networks and Luceco impacted performance. In terms of portfolio activity we started a new position in ULS Technologies, a provider of online platforms for the UK conveyancing industry, Sigma Capital, an investment adviser and development manager and Diversified Gas & Oil, a US focused conventional natural gas and oil producer. We increased our positions in Helical Bar, CVS Group and Harwood Wealth Management. We sold out of our positions in Spectris, Fidessa, Palace Capital and Luceco and took profits in Dotdigital.
