Fund Manager Commentary

UK equities (FTSE All-Share, on a total return basis) fell by 1.8% in March, outperforming global equities but underperforming the domestic fixed interest market over the month. Just as it appeared that calm had returned to the market following February's heightened levels of volatility, investors were once again rocked by fears of a global trade war, as policymakers in the US and China threatened to impose a number of tariffs on a seemingly ever-increasing list of products. In the UK, business surveys remained consistent with continued moderate GDP growth, while Sterling was supported by expectations that the Bank of England could increase base rates faster than previously anticipated. Within this context, the fund concluded the month 1.8% lower but outperformed both the benchmark and the sector. The fund benefitted from an overweight allocation to defensive areas of the market (Utilities, Telecommunications and Consumer) and underweight allocation to resources.
