Fund Manager Commentary

In August global equities produced positive returns, with the fund returning just over 1.0% against the global equities benchmark of 1.68%. US equity markets rose 4.2%, with Japan the only other region producing positive returns over the month. Asia ex. Japan was weak over the month as the Yuan depreciated due to further escalation in US-China trade dispute. Outperformance by US equities, led particularly by Facebook, Amazon, Apple, Netflix and Alphabet's Google (collectively known as the FAANGs) has been a key trend since start of Q2. The underweight allocation to US equities has been the dominant contributor to underperformance against the benchmark year-to-date, despite the fund's US exposure increasing by over 6% since start of 2018, as attractive opportunities appeared. In terms of key stock contributors, recent purchase Trimble rose 20% in August after results significantly beat consensus estimates. Bingo Industries, the Australian waste recycler, rose 19% following the announcement of an accretive acquisition. In terms of fund activity, the fund purchased Prysmian, a global leader in cabling that enables the infrastructure around renewable energy and decentralised generation. The company's valuation has been impacted by domestic political uncertainty and transient issues.
